In Mokena Had Fine Record as Educator*Mokena School Puts
On Fine Program
At Its 'Open House'

Open house held in the Mokena public school last Friday afternoon in observance of American Education Week, was well attended by mothers and friends of the pupils and teachers. The purpose of the open house was to inform the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools and to secure the cooperation and support of the public in meeting these needs.

The principal, Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel presided and presented each teacher and her class in their contribution to the afternoon program.

As usual, the first grades were most interesting and showed much patience of their teacher, Mrs. Minnie Pester, when they played two numbers in their rhythm band.

The second and third grades sang songs, "Indian Lullaby," "Ten Little Tadpoles," and "America," under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Phyllis Renfro.

The third and fourth grades sang a song, "Stop, Look and Listen," which was acted out very nicely. A boy in an improvised automobile propelled by his feet walked it along until he came to another little boy holding a stop sign. The "driver" of the makeshift auto stopped at the sign, and remained stopped until the "traffic man" switched it to "Go", when he proceeded merrily on his way.

The children also took part in a song-dance, "Indian Children," for which they were dressed in Indian costume. These acts were under direction of Mrs. Joy Leedom, the teacher.

The fifth grade, under direction of their teacher, Mrs. Gertrude Lehman, presented stories and pictures about pioneer life and the sixth grade pupils, under the direction of Mrs. Ruby Wheelley, showed maps of all the countries that helped to sign the Armistice in 1918, and pointed to strategic points on these maps.

The seventh and eighth grades (Mrs. Herbert Wrath, teacher) sang the beautiful "Bells of St. Mary's" and "Over the Rainbow".

Music supervisor for this very pleasant afternoon event was Mr. William Reed.

CARD PARTY

The Summit Hill Boosters will hold a card party, starting at 8 p.m., Nov. 20 in the school house. Hostesses will be Mrs. Jerome Daugherty and Mrs. John Bettenhausen.

The death November 11 of Wayne E. McCleery, 47, who had been superintendent of the West Aurora high school, came as a shock to his many friends in Mokena and area, as well as his large acquaintance in the educational world. He had been superintendent and coach at the Mokena high school and schools a few years ago, and was well liked here.

Mr. McCleery had apparently been in excellent health, but had been suffering from a cold and sore throat. He and his daughter, Nancy, were on their way to attend an "open house" at the Lyon Metal Products, Inc., in Montgomery, it being a "free day" at his school. He had planned to go hunting in the afternoon.

Mr. McCleery and his daughter thought it best before leaving for Montgomery to stop at the clinic in Aurora for an injection of penicillin, so the stop was made. As he left the clinic on the 8th floor, where the penicillin was administered by a nurse, he started towards the elevator to leave the building. As he neared the elevator he apparently felt suddenly ill, turned back to go to the clinic, and then suddenly collapsed in the corridor. There were no doctors in the clinic at the time, but four were on hand within a matter of five minutes. Supt. McCleery, however, had already passed away. His daughter was waiting for him in their automobile near the Graham building, where the clinic is located. The tragic news was broken to her by one of the doctors.

Mr. McCleery was born in DeKalb county, June 22, 1906. After graduating from the Waterman community high school in 1924 he continued his education and in 1930 received a degree of Bachelor of Science in Education from the University of Illinois. He received his Master's Degree in 1935.

Mr. McCleery was highly respected among his wide circle of friends and educators. He took a keen interest in civic affairs and the welfare of Aurora. He always had a warm smile, and was of a never failing good nature.

His teaching experience included two years 1926-28, as teacher of history and director of athletics at the Margaret A. Todd school in Aurora; five years as superintendent in the Mokena public schools; seven years as superintendent in the community high school at Crystal Lake, in addition to his connection with the Mokena schools and his recent position as superintendent of the West Aurora high school.

He was a member of many inter-scholastic and educational organizations and a past president of the Kiwanis Club of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa Kiwanis International, a former member of the Illinois State Committee of the North Central Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools, a member of the executive committee of the Illinois High School Principals' Association, former president of the North East Conference and a former member of the board of Christian Education of the First Congregational church at Crystal Lake. He is listed in "Who's Who in American Education," as well as "Who's Who in Illinois." Under his three year administration at the West Aurora high school he had undertaken and completed one of the biggest programs of school expansion and modernization in its history. Outstanding among the projects was the new West Aurora Senior high school, erected at a cost of more than two million dollars which was opened for the first time this September. He had many other major projects in his school administration.

Mokena is proud of the fact that a man of Mr. McCleery's caliber had at one time served on our schools here.

He is survived by his widow, Ethel, and two daughters, Nancy and Margaret. Funeral services were held Nov. 13 from a chapel in Aurora.

If the same enthusiastic response to these square dances and movies given by the PTA continues, the committee will feel encouraged to make still further effort to ensure that these occasions will be especially enjoyable, and continued without interruption throughout the winter months.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by MatThanksgiving

"As the colors of Autumn stream down the wind, scarlet in sumach and maple, spun gold in the birches, a splendor of smoldering fire in the oaks along the hill, and the last leaves flutter away, and dusk falls briefly about the worker bringing in from the field a late load of its fruit.... we are stirred once more to ponder the Infinite Goodness that has set apart for us, in all this moving mystery of creation, a time of living and a home."

C. SWANBERG BAGS A DEER

Charles Swanberg, of Mokena, went on a hunting trip Minnesota over the week end and killed an 8 point buck deer. Mr. Swanberg and Mr. William Rademacher of Plainfield, flew to Minneapolis Friday night, where they joined a group of friends, 11 in all. They then drove to Deer River, Minn. to hunt deer. The hunting trip was under the auspices of the North West Seed Grain Co., who put on a deer hunt each year for their salesmen, and Mr. Swanberg was an invited guest.

The hunt for deer continued Saturday and Sunday. The weather was fine and springlike, about 50, with no trace of snow. Normally the weather is around 20 below there at this time of the year, Swanberg says.

The big moment for Mr. Swanberg came Sunday morning when he got a shot at a buck, and brought it down with his 30-40 rifle. The deer weighed 250 pounds, and had 8 points on its antlers. They have road blocks in the Minnesota deer country, where deer killed by hunters are checked. The age of the deer is determined by their teeth. The buck that Mr. Swanberg brought down was estimated to be three years old.

They dragged the deer about a mile and a half through the woods, taking turns at the job. Three deer were bagged by the rest of the party.

This was the first deer Mr. Swanberg ever went deer hunting. He said it was a thrilling experience, one he will never forget. He returned Monday by plane. The deer was taken to the Minneapolis locker to be cut up and distributed, and Mr. Swanberg expects to be eating some venison one of these days—in the very near future.

WORLD CHURCH SERVICE OPENS
'CROP' PROGRAM

The CROP program of Christian Rural Overseas Relief is once again organized in Will county, together with the other 63 counties in the State of Illinois. Half of the world's people face hunger as their normal lot in life while we have great surpluses here. These people cannot think clearly about anything except their next meal. They need food to strengthen their minds and bodies. This CROP program operates as the shipping channel for food gifts of 35 million Protestants in the United States. The contributions of food and fiber are collected in carload lots for shipment to the nearest seaport. Church World Service handles the distribution of CROP gifts overseas.

The program in Will county calls for the delivering of corn or soy beans to the Wilton Center elevator the week of Nov. 30 to Dec. 5. Cash gifts also will be accepted for transportation. In this area, the county, the churches of Frankfort, Mokena, New Lenox and Homer township are cooperating, 25 farmers will participate in these townships. There will be some solicitations on the southern border of Cook county.

A carload of milk is being shipped from dairy areas, and grain from this area. The citizens of Mokena will be given an opportunity to contribute to the cause in the form of currency. Cans will be placed in various locations throughout the village for donations, and every Sunday school child has been given an envelope for a 10-cent candy bar or the part of a child will deliver a cup of milk to some needy child overseas for two months, 60 cents (a movie ticket) will deliver a cup for a year.

In Will county, Carl Toepper of Monee, and Rev. Edwin E. Otte, of Beecher, are co-chairmen; Rev. Ernest Gander of Peotone, is secretary, and Rev. Rudolph Martman, 655 E. Jackson street, Joliet, is treasurer.

Rapid Changes

Never in the experience of the campaign manager has there been a contest conducted where the places have changed more frequently, nor one in which THE FINAL OUTCOME is MORE UNCERTAIN. The out come will, however, depend upon the energy expended by the candidates and upon the support they receive from their friends, the subscribers.

This is the all important week of the contest for all the candidates. It will be the week during which time the voters will gather all the possible subscriptions they can. After Monday evening the votes will be cut in half and it will be the last opportunity for the candidates to receive 500,000 VOTES for each $30.00 worth of subscriptions turned in by nine o'clock Monday evening, November 30th.

Contributions Now
Accepted for Fred
Francis Memorial

At the recent meeting of the Will County Farm Bureau board of directors, it was decided unanimously to help publicize the Fred A. Francis Memorial Fund. Directors felt that in this way they would have a part in establishing a living memorial to one of the county's outstanding citizens. The board decided to enclose a letter in all correspondence going out from the Farm Bureau office, and take part in a word of mouth campaign around the county.

The fund is being directed by a board composed of the President of the Will County Farm Bureau, the President of the New Lenox State Bank, the County Superintendent of Schools, the County Veterinarian, and the County Assistant Farm Adviser, on a non profit basis for the lending of money to junior and senior agriculture college students.

These students must have an agricultural background consisting mostly of 4H work. It is felt that many students will be benefitted in that they will be able to accomplish the first two years of work alone, and this fund then can be used to sponsor their last two years of work. These students will be able to borrow from the fund and repay upon their graduation from college and establishment in their life's career.

Contributions are now being accepted in the name of the Fred A. Francis Memorial Fund in care of the New Lenox National Bank, New Lenox, Ill.

Anyone wishing to help establish this living memorial may send contributions there.

However after several hours, the search was abandoned.

Early Sunday morning as Mr. Rothenberg was going into the barn for the morning chores the animal had again returned to the scene, whereupon Mr. Rothenberg quickly shot it, thus putting an end to what might have been serious as well as costly for many farmers.

Farm Worksheet
Must be Submitted
Under AC Program

Adam F. Heisner, chairman of the Will county Production and Marketing Administration committee, emphasized that regardless of the conservation work a farmer may undertake on his farm, no payments can be made under the 1954 Agricultural Conservation program unless a farm worksheet has been properly completed by the deadline date, December 18, 1953.

The basic purpose of this program is to aid in achieving necessary conservation of soil and water resources. The future prosperity of this nation necessitates the protection and maintenance of these resources, according to Mr. Heisner.

This AC program is entirely voluntary. Every farmer will be given an opportunity to request the federal government to share the costs, if needed, to aid him in carrying out eligible practices on his farm during the 1954 program year.

The outlying townships, including Crete-Monee, Washington, Peotone, Will, Florence-Wilton, Custer-Reed, Wesley-Wilmington, DuPage, Plainfield and Wheatland are being given a special date in each community for cooperators to sign up or they may come to the PMA office, 157 N. Ottawa street, Joliet, to sign for requested practices on or before the deadline date, December 18, 1953.

SCIENCE and your Health

OVERDUE BABIES
by Science Features

Expectant mothers often worry when the baby is not born on the date predicted by the family doctor. Is the baby getting too large for a normal delivery? Will labor be more severe? Is there something wrong with the baby?

The answer to all these questions is no, according to a survey conducted by Dr.

Robert E. Lantz of the Sharon, Pa., General Hospital. Dr. Lantz studied 71 overdue babies several of which were as much as 45 days late in arriving.

Here is what he found:

Only nine of the overdue babies were considered to be large (weighing nine pounds or more). All but two of these were delivered spontaneously. The rest were "normal" in every sense of the word.

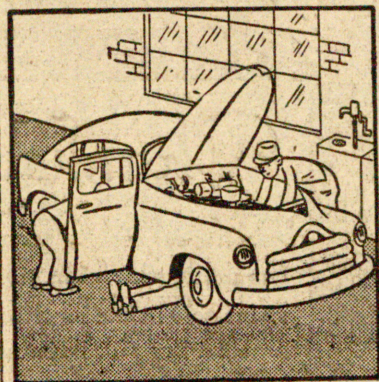

Dr. Lantz concludes that post-maturity — an overdue baby — "is not a dangerous complication, does not produce excessively large babies, does not lead to an increase in the average length of labor, and is not an indication for a Caesarean section."

So it seems that the best thing an expectant mother can do when her child is late in arriving is to wait with confidence and as much patience as she can muster.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

If you haven't already prepared your car for winter driving conditions, now is the time to do it. Minor defects that won't normally cause you any difficulty in mild weather can stall your car completely when the temperature drops below freezing.

Things like dirty spark plugs, faulty points, a battery that's not up to par, leaky hoses in the cooling system can put your car completely out of action on a cold morning. And it's a discouraging experience to step into your car in the morning with the temperature near zero and find that the battery won't turn the motor over or to run the battery down trying to make a faulty ignition system get the motor going.

Make sure, too, your brakes are pulling equally. It is dangerous enough on dry pavement to try to operate a car whose brakes pull to one side, but on the ice and snow conditions you will encounter during winter, that defect could cause you to skid and lose control of your car completely.

Winter is hard on a car in the best of condition and the driving circumstances are hard on the driver. Don't handicap yourself by trying to operate a car that increases your possibilities of having an accident.

SHE'S GOT APTITUDE!

How accurate is "accuracy?" Attractive Ruth Wenger, one of the top feminine artisans at the Eterna watch factory, of Grenchen, Switzerland, knows the answer in split-second vibrations, because her business is precision.

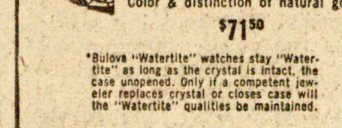

Her job is to adjust and synchronize by vibration-count the incredibly sensitive spirals and balance wheels of high-precision, self-winding Eterna-Matic watches, famed throughout the world for their unique ballbearing winding system that insures timekeeping accuracy.

The delicate operations involved in handling these spirals, laminated to approximately four ten-thousandths of an inch, or one-third the thickness of a hair, require a steady hand, a sharp eye and an aptitude for perfection. According to Dr. Rudolph Schild, director general of Eterna, about one-third of the skilled artisans at his factory are women.

U. S. A.—1975

(First of a Series)
Greater opportunities, increase in standard of living, more firms to help provide the goods and services which America's growing population will require, by 1975 is the picture drawn by a report just issued by the National Association of Manufacturers.

In compiling this data showing the nation's probable growth in population in the next 22 years and its "potential" for satisfying the needs and aspirations of its citizens, the findings indicated that by 1975 the United States might have:

1. A population of 190,000,000 or 33,000,000 more persons than in 1952.

2. A work force of 88.6 million, or 22.1 million more than in 1952.

3. The physical, human and other resources of production to permit if properly utilized a per capita income of $3,200 a year, an amount 70 per cent above the 1952 average of $1,860.

The expected growth in population should increase the potentialities of this nation, the report points out, as it will mean larger potential markets and more job seekers. However, it warns, that a high birth rate in itself does not guarantee a high standard of living and the huge markets which go with it.

Nor are millions of new jobs guaranteed by mere population growth. The teeming millions in Asia and certain other areas, where poverty abounds, offer the strongest evidence of this.

This is where capital comes in—capital goods and producers equipment on a huge scale. Only then is the population truly productive and the standard of living the highest in the world.

But it will also mean that there must be greater incentives and an intelligent use of our physical resources. The key, according to the NAM report, to an expanding economy consists of strengthening the individual enterprise system, which "is the best system known for getting men to work together toward desirable goals and at the same time preserving individual freedom."

The report carefully points out that NAM economists, in appraising the country's potentialities for raising living standards in the next 22 years to a 1 3-4 times the present level, were not actually forecasting such an increase but were estimating what is reasonably possible. The NAM economists found that a 70 per cent increase in real capita income may be anticipated "if our economy continues to provide incentives for people to produce, to invent, and to devise better ways of providing the increased goods and service our growing population will require."

Christian Science Churches
Divine beauty, form, outline and color, can be viewed only through the lens of Spirit. How to pierce the mist of materiality so that man and the universe can be seen in their true spiritual reflection, will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 22. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be Body and Soul.

The Golden Text is from Matthew (6:22) "The light of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light."

Bible selections (King James Version) in the Lesson-Sermon include:
"And Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven: And he said, But will God indeed dwell on the earth? behold, the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house that I have builded?" (1 Kings 8: 22, 27).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:
"Science reveals Spirit, Soul, as not in the body, and God as not in man but as reflected by man. The greater cannot be in the lesser. The belief that the greater can be in the lesser is an error that works ill. This is a leading point in the Science of Soul, that Principle is not in its idea" (p. 467).

Mrs. Adele Cooper Tells of Visit to Bermuda, Wash'ton

A very interesting story is told by Mrs. Adele Cooper, of Orland Park, of a whirlwind week's trip to Bermuda, New York, Washington and other points, during which she seems to have missed nothing worth seeing.

She started from Chicago Sunday, Oct. 25 CST, when she left by United Airlines at 9 a.m. and arrived in New York City at 12:45 p.m. EST. She left New York by Pan American Airlines at 4 p.m. that same day, and arrived in Bermuda at 7:10 p.m.

During one part of the trip to New York they hit a dense fog and were ordered to fasten the safety belts.

Bermuda is beautiful and quaint, says Mrs. Cooper, and in some ways similar to southern Florida and New Orleans. Hibiscus, oleanders and geraniums grow like hedges and lanterns like bushes.

She stayed at the beautiful Castle Harbor hotel. Standing out on her balcony she could overlook the beautiful garden, or of an evening listen to the orchestra and watch the dancers. They went on tours of various places, and rode and rode among the quaint buildings of Hamilton and St. George.

Among places of interest visited were the Trade Winds perfume factory where she saw the beautiful passion flower, the Remington Cave where most marvelous formations of stalactite and stalagmite were seen, and many other places.

Bermuda has 365 islands. It is about three miles wide and 22 miles long.

Mrs. Cooper was somewhat disconcerted and a little frightened over having to drive on the left side of the road, especially when going around curves (which were many) and where collisions were momentarily expected by her.

She returned to New York via boat, aboard the finely appointed Queen of Bermuda, a veritable floating hotel. The second day out was quite rough, but Mrs. Cooper got through it without becoming seasick, nor had she been averse coming the other way. At four o'clock tea was served on deck.

Mrs. Cooper visited her friend Leola at Rockville Center, Long Island. Sunday she attended St. Mark's Methodist church, a large, new beautiful church, with so many rooms and floors one could easily get lost.

One day they decided to go to New York City so the engaged a room at the Statler hotel. She tried to get tickets for the Milton Berle and Arthur Godfrey shows, but was not fortunate enough. She was told they might have a chance if they stood in line. They did stand for more than an hour in line at the Milton Berle show, but never got in. They made a trip to the beautiful Radio City music hall, and saw Mogambo and a gorgeous stage show. The next morning they did not try the Godfrey show, but did get in at "Break the Bank" and "Second Chance."

They toured the United Nations building, which is made of three main elements, first the long low Conference building, the General Assembly building, faced with translucent glass set in tall marble pieces. Second, the high, vertical Secretariat building, which is only 73 feet wide, 287 feet long, and rises to a height of 505 feet above street level, with three levels below, and 5400 windows. Each room is furnished by some country. There are 2300 typewriters with keyboards for writing in 15 languages. The third is the 7-story Library building.

All form the headquarters known as the United Nations. Mrs. Cooper visited the General Assembly hall, the Security Council chamber, Trustee Council Chamber, and attended some of the sessions in the Economic and Social Council chamber. They were provided with earphones with which they could tune in to anyone of five official languages. If a representative speaks in Spanish, four interpreters translate his words into English, French, Russian and Chinese. A dial attached to the arm of your seat enables you to select the one you want.

Mrs. Cooper stopped over in Washington for two days. On Friday morning she made a tour of Interior of Public Buildings, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and saw the finishing and counting of one dollar bills. There is a vast amount of damaged money made every day. Postage stamps are printed in this building.

The party stopped at the beautiful Pan-American Union building, with the 21 replicas of Central and South America represented.

They visited the east wing of the White House including the main dining room, Blue Room, Green room, Red room and main foyer. The legs of the grand pianos were eagles.

Next on the itinerary was the United States Capitol. They visited the rotunda, the former supreme court room, house and senate chambers, lower corridors, statuary hall, and the President's room. Next on the list was the Smithsonian Institute, where all early inventions are on exhibition, such as Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," and a thousand and one different things. Here one could see a lifelike portrayal of all the first ladies and their gowns (actual life size), including Mrs. Truman.

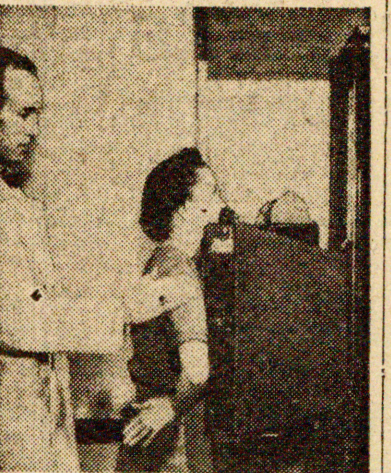

They took an afternoon motor tour covering 30 miles of Washington, passing the homes of embassies and legations, the national Zoological park, the home of Mrs. Wilson and many other places, with stops at the huge Lincoln and Jefferson memorials. They had difficulty in making the Jefferson memorial, as there are countless steps of marble, which were very slippery, with a high wind blowing, and the earliest snowstorm in 13 years in progress.

On Saturday they visited the General Federation of Women's Clubs headquarters, a gray stone mansion which was closed that day, but they had permission to enter, as the caretaker was there. It was lucky the hostess had a letter to prepare for the Denver convention. They saw Mrs. Alhgren's office, the reception rooms, dining room, research library etc. King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece were their guests that week. The General Federation of Women's Clubs also own the building next door and in the rear of the building is the Iron Gate Inn, noted for "Just Real Good Food", which was right. This is a quaint place, originally owned by Gen. S. Miles. The original stalls, hayracks, feed boxes, harness hooks and saddle trees are still there.

Mrs. Cooper says the trip was made possible by her sons, Merrill and Floyd. It was a fast trip and she was glad to get home and rest.

Omar Bradley

In its issue of August 22, the Saturday Evening Post published the first of two articles by General of the Army Omar Bradley, who recently retired as Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and was the first man to hold that lofty position. Written in collaboration with the Post's Washington editor, Beverly Smith, the articles carry the title "A Soldier's Farewell."

General Bradley deals with controversial matters, and there will be many who disagree with his views. But the fact remains that he has had an extraordinarily distinguished career. He was the victorious field commander, under Eisenhower, of the greatest military force the world has ever known. He made a widely praised record as head of one of the most ticklish bureaus in the government—the Veterans' Administration. And he was Chief of Staff of the Army in an extremely difficult period.

General Bradley says that our military objectives must correspond with four national objectives which may be briefed as follows: 1. America and its freedoms will be defended at any cost. 2. We will use every means to prevent another world war—which means that we will not provoke war or wage preventive war. 3. We will build and maintain military forces, with the necessary equipment and bases, sufficient to deter any aggressor, or, if that fails, to win a world war if it comes. 4. We do not consider another world war to be inevitable, for the reason that if we and our allies are strong enough no enemy will dare to start one.

He then makes his case against the "Fortress America" idea—the idea of concentrating on making this continent an invulnerable redoubt. In his view, this could lead only, in time, to communist organization of the rest of the world's human and material resources to the point where successful defense of America would be impossible! He says, "There is no safety for America, in today's world, without allies." He quotes with full approval President Eisenhower's recent statement: "All free nations must stand together, or they shall fall separately."

Going on, General Bradley deals with what has and is being done to create military security. He clearly believes that we are not moving as rapidly as we should, and that, among other things, Defense Secretary Wilson's present policies concerning reductions in military spending are unwise. Our goal, to his mind, is to achieve "such a combination of forces and alliances that no communist leader in his right mind would dare risk another world war." This means, he continues, that we must have sufficient force and alliances to avert sudden disaster, such as an atomic attack; to avert disaster on the installment plan, as would occur if our allies were overrun or absorbed; to retaliate instantly and terribly with atomic weapons against an aggressor; to furnish a base for production and mobilization which can be quickly expanded if need be to give us the resources to win.

Despite the faults General Bradley finds in what we have done, he is not a pessimist. He closes his first article with these words: "I believe we are building, and can maintain indefinitely, a position of reasonable security. The most vital thing here, of course, is the spirit of our people—I believe we can do this within our means, without bankrupting ourselves, by holding and increasing our technological lead and by selecting wisely the new weapons which are being developed."

Let Us Bow Our Heads In THANKS

Today, in the spirit of the first Thanksgiving, let us give thanks to the Creator for all the blessings we have received, both as individuals and as Americans... a free people, living without fear in a free country. Like the Pilgrim Fathers, let us humbly acknowledge our debt to Divine Providence for all that we are and may hope to become. Like them, let us bow our heads in a prayer of gratitude to the Giver of "every good and perfect gift."

How better express the gratitude that is in your heart than to gather with family and friends in Church on Thanksgiving Day?

Former Mokena Residents Stop to Renew Old Ties

Two weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Carl Knapp, of Cable, Wis., stopped in Mokena to renew childhood acquaintances. Mr. Knapp dropped in the News-Bulletin office to visit with his former friend, William Semmler and was surprised to learn of his death. The two had been boyhood chums.

Mr. Knapp lived here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Knapp. They had a paint shop and painted wagons, etc. They lived in the place now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Scott Perry, and also lived for a short time in Frankfort.

They then sold their place to Mr. and Mrs. Wisnick, who conducted a clothing business in that place, which older residents will readily recall. After selling out to the Wisnicks the family moved to Chicago. In 1914 Carl moved to Maywood and married Miss Ethel Geddes. They have two daughters.

The Knapps now conduct a summer resort near Cable, Wis. where they have eight cottages on Lake Owens, near the place of the late Milton Kropp. They stopped en route to Jacksonville Fla. where they will spend the winter.

Walter E. Winn, Richmond, dairy farmer, was elected first vice president of the National Milk Producers Federation and re-elected a member of its executive committee at the 37th annual convention in Houston, Texas, last week.

Winn, president of the Pure Milk Association, Chicago, since March 1951, also is a member of Federation's board of directors.

RECIPES

On September 24 we announced in this paper that we would be glad to receive and publish favorite recipes from people in this area, and suggested that readers send in their favorite recipes at once so that we could get the project started. We wanted to accumulate recipes before the plan was put into operation.

However, the response to our suggestion was rather disappointing. Recipes did not arrive in the numbers we had anticipated, and as quite an interval has now elapsed since our announcement was made we have decided to publish the recipes that have already been submitted.

The first of these was for Angel Pie, and was submitted by Mrs. Russell H. Lauffer, of Marley. Here it is:

Angel Pie
1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1 T. cold water
2 T. cold sugar
2 T. corn starch
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup milk scalded
3 egg yolks beaten
1 T. butter
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 cup cream whipped
1 pie shell
1 oz. sweet chocolate grated
Soak gelatin in cold water. Mix sugar, corn starch and salt, add to milk in double boiler. Cook until thick and smooth, then about 15 mins, longer stirring constantly. Stir small amount of mixture into egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook few minutes longer. Add gelatin and butter. Cool, add vanilla. After cooling well, add whipped cream. Put in pie shell and cover with grated chocolate. Sweet or semi-sweet.
—Mrs. Russell H. Lauffer

The housewife is face to face with the fact that there are 1955 meals that must be planned each year—a formidable figure that offers a real challenge to culinary ingenuity, and when it is remembered that "variety is the spice of life" this "favorite recipe" plan should be especially welcomed by every housewife in the area. Surely every home maker must have on tap some favorite recipe that others would be glad to have.

Another recipe will be published next week, and it is hoped that now that this plan has been put into operation many others will be inspired to send in their favorite recipes.

Challenge Legality Of Fire District In North Palos Suit

(CNS) The legality of the board of trustees of the North Palos Fire Protection District was challenged Monday in a suit filed in Circuit Court by the Cook county state's attorney. Named as defendants are Dennis S. Grace, 8031 West 107th street, Warren B. Chandler, an insurance man, 10660 South Rolerts road, and Henry Michael 10504 South 81st avenue, all in Palos township.

According to the suit, filed by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph R. Kerwin, the defendants "have purported to hold and execute... without any... lawful authority whatsoever, the offices of the member of the pretended Board of Trustees of the purported North Palos Fire Protection District."

The suit charges that Grace, Chandler and Michael "usurped their positions, asked that they show by what authority they are holding office, and ask that the court oust and expel them from the board of trustees." Kerwin said that the question of the state law under which the district was set up may come up at the trial of the three men, also, and that the state's attorney's office is not satisfied with the legality of the district itself.

One reason for filing of the suit is to get a court ruling on whether the district is a bona-fide taxing body. An answer is expected to be filed by December 7.

First Lien On Business

The first lien on any business is wages. The worker gets his off the top—before the suppliers the tax collectors, or the investors.

If a business goes broke, over due bills for labor are the first to be paid as the assets are liquidated. Not until that charge is met in full, can any other debtor get all or any part of what he has coming.

These facts are as obvious as day and night—and that's one reason we rarely think of them. All other kinds of obligations may be deferred, but the worker's money—his wages—is always paid in full.

This is as it should be. The old saying that the laborer is worthy of his hire has literally found its reflection in the law and in universal business practice. It is indicative of the place that labor holds in our free enterprise system under a representative form of government.

In most businesses, the payroll is the largest single item of expense aside from the purchase of materials and supplies—and much of the money for those requirements winds up in pay envelopes all over the country.

Labor in America gets more money than labor anywhere else. It has far better living standards. It receives many valuable benefits—unemployment compensation, pensions, old age payments, sickness compensation, and so on. No group has a greater state in the American economy and the American system of doing things.

How Times Have Changed

Over the years, American retailing has made enormous advances in its services to the consumer—there is simply no comparison between the typical retail store of today and that of the past. And its employment policies have shown comparable progress.

An amusing and significant example is found in a set of rules posted in an Illinois store back in 1880. These included the following: Store must be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. the year 'round. Store must be swept; counters, shelves and showcases dusted; lamps trimmed, filled and chimneys cleaned; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast. The employee who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement, will assuredly give his employer reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty. Each employee must pay not less than $5 a year to the church and must attend Sunday school regularly. Men employees are given one evening a week for courting. After 14 hours in the store the leisure hours should be spent for the most part in reading.

That was the situation 73 years ago. In retailing, as in other enterprise, the lot of the American worker has improved to an almost unbelievable extent.

The 1954 Election

The 1954 elections, which will determine the political fate of all the members of the House and one third of the members of the Senate, are more than a year away. But to all practical purposes the campaign is underway now. As U. S. News & World Report put it, members of both parties "are issuing statements, making speeches, holding rallies setting up party organizations, working as if the voting were to be this year instead of next."

In this early stage of the game the Democratic leaders are the more aggressive, which is pretty much to be expected—the party which is out of power and trying to get back in always carries the battle to the enemy. Another reason for it is found in the character and attitude of Mr. Truman, who is a firm believer in knock down and drag out tactics so far as political wars are concerned—the kind of tactics which brought him his wholly unexpected victory in 1948.

Actually, of course, Mr. Stevenson is the titular head of the Democratic Party. If he wants the nomination again and works for it, the chances are he will get it. But Mr. Stevenson is not the "give 'em hell" type. He does not see anything in blacks and whites as Mr. Truman does, and he does not argue that the Democrats are all on the side of the angels while all Republicans are the devil's disciples. Indeed, there are a number of fields—'foreign policy being one—where it is hard to find any basic difference between the views of Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Eisenhower. So, when it comes to the heavy line-plugging, Mr. Truman is filling the fullback spot.

An excellent preview of things to come was provided in Mr. Truman's Detroit speech on Labor Day. He gave unrestricted praise to the achievement of the Democrats during the 1932-52 period, saying, "We stopped wild speculation. We taxed in accordance with the ability to pay. We enacted minimum wage laws and social security laws. We helped agriculture and small business. We moved to develop the great natural resources of the country in the interest of a few exploiters but of all the people." We saw to it that the American labor movement got an even break." Then naturally he denounced the acts of the new administration in equally unequivocal terms.

The Republicans have not yet brought out their biggest guns to present their case. But the general line they will take is easily detailed. Their principal arguments, in the view of U. S. News, will include the following: Under their leadership the Korean shooting was stopped; they are ridding the government of Communists who infiltrated in great numbers and to high places under the Democrats; they are restoring an honest dollar, and will bring about a balanced budget; states' rights, which were in danger of being totally destroyed by the concentration of power in Washington, are being restored; the socialistic trend begun by Roosevelt and carried on by Truman is being stopped and free enterprise encouraged; at long last, integrity is again the symbol of government.

That this campaign will be fought hard goes without saying. The Republican majority in the Senate is tissue thin, and a switch of but eight seats would give the Democrats control in the House. As of this moment, and largely due to the President's enormous and apparently undiminished personal popularity, the political writers generally are forecasting that the GOP will keep its control, and perhaps somewhat improve its Congressional position. But anything can happen in 13 months.

annual 4H Club crop show at the Farm Bureau. This contest is designed so that each member competes on an equal basis, regardless of the moisture percentage and amount of corn left in the fields. All samples are standardized to a 15% moisture content.

John Alsip of the Will County Cooperatives was present and announced winners of prizes awarded by the Cooperatives. This year's winner was Roy Bruens of the Prairie 4H club with 110.7 bushels per acre.

1. SNAP-COUPLER

Allis-Chalmers announces the handiest system ever devised for hitching tractor-mounted implements.

It's the SNAP-COUPLER! Here's how it works. Just back your tractor. A funnel-shaped cone guides the implement tongue into the single hitchpoint. Snap... it latches! Close the two lift-arm spring couplings and drive away!

Good news for WD Tractor owners—the SNAP-COUPLER is also available for all WD Tractors in service. Ask us about the conversion kit.

2. POWER-SHIFT WHEELS

Quick-hitch alone is not the whole story. It's quick everything! Engine power spaces rear tractor wheels.

Match wheel spacing exactly to rows, furrows, swath or tillage tool width.

Attach implements and space wheels... one! two! QUICK! Let us show you Allis-Chalmers Quick-Change Farming.

Whistling Swans Visit Orland Twp.

There are a lot of rare birds in Orland township just southwest of Chicago.

Palos division forest preserves superintendent Joseph Reichert reports that about 40 whistling swans have set down on McGinnis slough in the woods. Reichert called forest preserve board chairman William Erickson and reported that the big white birds with black legs and black bills apparently are stopping off on their way from Canada's Hudson Bay to the Gulf of Mexico coast where they spend the winter.

The birds have an eight foot wing spread—yard-long necks and weigh up to 30 pounds apiece. But Erickson warns that Chicagoans who have their own idea about welcoming the visitors had better watch out. The swans are protected by federal game laws and can not be shot. And anyway, says Erickson, their meat isn't supposed to taste very good.

BABSON SAYS—

My daily Bible reading recent ly was the Forty-first Chapter of Genesis. This tells the story of Joseph and the Seven Lean Years of famine following the Seven Fat Years of prosperity. This story especially interests me because during the past summer I had been reading Breasted's History of Egypt, a complete history of the world's most enduring nation.

The remarkable feature about Joseph's business cycle is that the story has continued to be told by word of mouth, written by script, and finally printed, over a period of about thirty-six hundred years. Certainly, if these cycles had not continued from generation to generation this story of Joseph's cycles would have dropped from the Hebrew history as so many other folklore stories did. Remember that for 2,000 years this story passed only by word of mouth; for 1,000 years it passed only by handwritten script; and only during the last 500 years has it passed by printed type.

Naturally, the story interests me in view of my fundamental belief in Sir Isaac Newton's Law of Action and Reaction. Newton published this Law in 1689. Most scientists and economists have recognized it from that day to the present. In short, in the business realm this means that whenever "prosperity" becomes abnormally high, either fundamental conditions must improve to justify this high prosperity or else there must follow a depression period approximately equal in area to compensate. The difficulty with the Law is that no way has yet been discovered to forecast the length or area of this prosperity period. We all know that labor leaders, installment selling and pressure groups cannot keep up their present tactics forever. (Trees do not grow to the skies.) But how long they can keep them up, no one now knows.

There are factors which could prolong the present era of prosperity. One of these—the spending of billions to protect our large cities against enemy bombs I have often forecast in this column. I believe my friend, Val Peterson, the National Civil Defense Administrator, will secure the necessary appropriations which could offset any decline in military expenditures. Another factor, which businessmen should watch, is the conflict between Great Britain and the United States regarding the opening up of China and Far Eastern trade. I believe that the British will be successful and win their argument. They know far more about foreign trade than we do and they have much more at stake. If China and the Far East are opened to trade, this could do much to lengthen prosperity.

I recently heard an interesting lecture on advertising, showing its tremendous growth and its improved pulling qualities. The best paid psychologists, statisticians, and artists are employed today in getting people to buy. The magnificent color advertising, which has recently come into development, may do for retail trade what the self-starter did for the automobile industry. Sales campaigns, sales conventions, and the training of salesmen have been developed to a point never known before. The possibilities of radio and television advertising are still in their infancy. The newspapers a few days ago reported that fifty million people watched television to hear LaRosa (whoever he may be), probably less than half that number was the most who ever heard President Eisenhower! Lucky was the LaRosa sponsor.

These are times when every businessman, in every community, should guard against being too dogmatic and thinking he knows just what is going to happen. The man who is a great optimist, or a great pessimist, is running a great risk. It is well to keep out of embarrassing debt; but otherwise every businessman should go ahead about as usual for the next few months.

We may have a depression in 1954, but don't be too sure about it. 1954 may be a good year, but I'll discuss this in my Annual Outlook.

SALUTE TO YOUR LETTER CARRIER

Comedians Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, honorary chairmen of the nationwide "Letter Carriers March" for muscular dystrophy victims, will host a special coast-to-coast celebrity television and radio simulcast over ABC network stations the evening before Thanksgiving. The giant entertainment show, featuring top Hollywood stars, will alert families throughout the nation that their letter carriers will call after Thanksgiving to pick up contributions to aid more than 200,000 victims of the crippling and fatal disease. U.S. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield is National Honorary Chairman of the drive. Local branches of the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC), headed by their president, William C. Doherly, will give full support to the campaign. Consult this newspaper for time of the Martin and Lewis "Salute to the Letter Carrier."

Your generous contribution when your letter carrier calls may save a child's life. If you miss your letter carrier, you may send your contribution to MDA, care of your local Postmaster.
